Objectives and investment policy

Objectives

- The objective of the fund is to increase the value of your investment over the medium- to long term.

Investment portfolio

- Under normal market conditions, the fund primarily invests in a diversified portfolio of shares and bonds issued by companies from across the world, including from emerging countries. The fund may invest directly in shares or bonds, or indirectly by investing in units of other investment funds or via certificates of deposit.
- In order to take advantage or hedge against market fluctuations, or for effective portfolio management, the sub-fund may use derivatives.

Investment process

- The manager will select the various investment classes, sectors and countries in a flexible manner, on the basis of macroeconomic and financial criteria.

Investor profile

- This fund is suitable for investors who understand the risks of the fund and who wish to invest for a minimum investment horizon of 3 to 5 years.

Reference currency of the sub-fund EUR

You can buy or sell shares in the sub-fund each week.

This sub-fund issues accumulation shares (shares for which all income is reinvested in the sub-fund) and distribution shares (shares that pay out income to holders).

Key terms

- Share Financial security corresponding to a share in the capital of a company and generally entitling the holder to receive dividends.
- Certificate of deposit Financial security issued by a bank granting an entitlement to interest and which is easily negotiable.
- Derivative Any financial security whose value is linked to one or more interest rates, an index, share, currency, commodity or another underlying asset.
- Bond Financial security issued by a company, government or entity that generally entitles the holder to receive interest.

Risk and reward profile

- The value of an investment in a sub-fund increases or decreases over time. At the time of resale, the price of your shares may be less than the original price, representing a loss. If you invest in a sub-fund whose currency is different from your own, exchange rate fluctuations can also reduce your gains or increase your losses.
- The above risk level is calculated on the basis of the sub-fund's volatility over the medium term (i.e. on the basis of actual changes in its value over the last five years or on a simulation, if the sub-fund was created within that period). The volatility of the sub-fund may increase or decrease over time, which may change its risk level.
- The sub-fund's risk level reflects the following factor(s):
 - Bond investments tend to reduce the volatility of investments in shares.

The risk level does not reflect the potential impact of unusual market conditions or unforeseen events that may increase risk or trigger other risks such as:

- Credit risk Bonds may become worthless if the issuer (a commercial company or government) is unable to repay its debt within the agreed time frame.
- Liquidity risk Some financial securities may be impossible to sell quickly at a given instant or may have to be sold at a discount.
- Management risk Under abnormal market conditions, the usual management techniques may be ineffective or unfavourable.
- Derivative risk Some derivatives may increase the volatility of the sub-fund or expose the sub-fund to losses that are higher than the price of the derivatives.
- Operational risk In any market, and especially in emerging markets, the sub-fund may lose some or all of its money if there is a failure in the custody of assets or in the event of fraud, corruption, political actions or any other adverse event.
- Counterparty risk The sub-fund can lose money as a result of the failure of a market player with which it does business.
