Monthly Report

FUND DESCRIPTION

MercLin Institutional Equity Fund DBI-RDT (sub-fund of MercLin Institutional Fund) meets the requirements imposed by the applicable regulations to benefit from the Definitively Taxed Income regime (DBI-RDT): the sub-fund distributes at least 90% of the received income, after deducting salaries, commissions and charges. The company-shareholder can – as of income year 2018 – deduct 100% from the taxable basis of the income distributed by the sicav resulting from dividends or from capital gains on shares, which meet the requirements of the DBI-RDT deduction. The fund follows the equity strategies of the MercLin Global Equity fund.

<sup>2</sup> It concerns annual (except YTD) performance numbers based on historical data and which are no guarantee of future results. YTD is a cumulative return over a period from the 1st of January of the current year till a given date (see above) in the current year.

<sup>5</sup> MSCI AC World Euro Net dividend reinvested. The investment policy of the subfund does not include a tracking error objective with the benchmark. Performances of the subfund may therefore vary from the performance of the benchmark.

MANAGER'S COMMENT

One of the best performing stocks within the fund this year is Fairfax Financial. While the developed equity markets are firmly in the red this year, Fairfax is displaying positive year-to-date stock price returns. One of the reasons for this display of strength is the stellar performance in its core business, insurance. The North American insurance market is benefitting from what they call a hard insurance market. A hard insurance market takes place when the industry wants to correct underwriting requirements that have gotten to loose over the past years. This translates in more disciplined underwriting requirements, higher premiums and less competition. All these factors lead to profitable growth in Fairfax's core business. That is however not the only thing that the market is excited about as Fairfax is continuing to create value for shareholders by taking decisive actions. In June, the company once again announced a lucrative deal as they announced the sale of the pet insurance business for 1.4 billion USD to JAB holdings. The price that JAB is paying is more than 10% of the entire market capitalization of Fairfax even though the pet insurance business only makes up around 1.5% of the insurance segment. These are the value creating actions that are driving the growth in Fairfax's book value and that are driving the shares higher in a difficult stock market environment.

Risk indicator:

The value of an investment in a sub-fund increases or decreases over time. At the time of resale, the price of your shares may be less than the original price, representing a loss. If you invest in a sub-fund whose currency is different from your own, exchange rate fluctuations can also reduce your gains or increase your losses.

The above risk level is calculated on the basis of the sub-fund's volatility over the medium term (i.e. on the basis of actual changes in its value over the last five years or on a simulation, if the subfund was created within that period). The volatility of the sub-fund may increase or decrease over time, which may change its risk level.

The subfund's risk level reflects the following factor(s):

Equity investments have greater volatility and higher risk than investments in bonds and money market instruments. The risk level does not reflect the potential impact of unusual market conditions or unforeseen events that may increase risk or trigger other risks such as:

- Counterparty risk: the subfund can lose money as a result of the failure of a market player with which it does business.
- Credit risk: risk associated with bonds becoming worthless when the issuer of the bond is not able to repay its debt on maturity.
- Liquidity risk: some financial securities may be impossible to sell quickly at a given time or may have to be sold at a discount.
- Management risk: under abnormal market conditions, the usual management techniques may be ineffective or unfavourable.
- Operating risk: in any market, and especially in the emerging markets, the subfund may lose some or all of its money if there is a failure in the custody of assets or in case of fraud, corruption, political actions or any other adverse event.
